How to get a copy of your personal data?

You can access your personal data we hold on you by either writing to us at the address at the top of this notice or emailing info@bsps.com.

Let us know if you think your data is wrong

We want to ensure that all the data we hold on you is accurate and up to date, if you think that any of it isn't please let us know, we'll make every reasonable effort to correct it.

What if you want to stop us using your personal data?

You will within your rights to object to us processing your data, asking us to delete it or stop using it if there is no reason for us to continue to use it. If there's a reason why we need to continue to use it we'll let you know and keep you informed of our decision, if there isn't we'll do as you've asked.

There might also be occasions where we could restrict the processing of your personal data, and only use it in the defence of a legal claim or in connection with the investigation of a breach of the BSPS Rules or any subsequent disciplinary proceedings. We wouldn't be able to use it for anything else in the meantime.

You can restrict the use of it if:

It's not accurate, the processing is unlawful, but you don't want it deleting, it's not relevant other than in the defence of a legal claim, or in connection with the investigation of a breach of the BSPS Rules or any subsequent disciplinary proceedings or you've already asked us to stop using it and are waiting for us to respond to you.

How to withdraw consent

For any situation where you have given us your consent you can take it away. Just let us know if you change your mind.

If you want to make a complaint about how we use your personal data

In the first instance please get in touch, we want to know why you're unhappy, so we can put it right. You can write to us at the address at the top of this notice or email us at info@bsps.com.

If you're still not happy, you can contact the Information Commissioners Office, <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/>.
